Tracking Error

Each of the Funds listed in the table employs a “passive” investment strategy designed to replicate the performance of its benchmark index. Some of the Funds attempt to fully replicate the index by holding all of the component securities, in approximately the same proportion as their weighting in the index. Other Funds instead use an index sampling process, holding a representative sample of securities which approximates the full index in terms of key risk factors and other characteristics. The table below excludes actively-managed funds.

Tracking error measures the volatility of the return difference between the Fund and the index. It is calculated as the standard deviation of the tracking difference between the Fund and the index (gross of fees for the trailing 36-month period, or since the Fund’s inception if it does not have 36 months of performance history). Realised tracking error may vary from the anticipated tracking error, depending on a range of circumstances. These include transaction costs, securities lending income and withholding tax differences. The anticipated tracking error and realised tracking error are not expected to vary significantly under normal circumstances.

The Realised Tracking Error excludes adjustments for swing pricing.

For the year ended 31 December 2023, the tracking error disclosed for each Fund is based on an accumulation shares class that is in the same currency as the Fund’s base currency:

| Fund   | Tracking Error  |              | Explanation for Divergence   |
|--|-----------------|--------------|--|

| Vanguard Emerging Markets Stock Index Fund USD Acc <sup>1</sup>              | 0.500           | 0.592        | The difference in tracking error is due to the Fund’s accrual of capital gains taxes for India and Brazil which are not included in the index, separately there was a timing difference between when the fund and the index priced Russian equities at zero. |

At least 21 days' notice (inclusive of the day on which the notice is served or deemed to be served and of the day for which the notice is given) shall be given to shareholders. The notice shall specify the place, day and hour of the meeting and the terms of the resolutions to be proposed. A proxy may attend on behalf of any shareholder.

The subscriber shareholders shall have one vote for each subscriber share held. The relevant record date for these purposes shall be a date being not more than 30 days prior to the date of the relevant general meeting of shareholders or written resolution as determined by the Directors. In relation to a resolution that in the opinion of the Directors gives or may give rise to a conflict of interest between the shareholders of any class, such resolution shall be deemed to have been duly passed only if, in lieu of being passed through a single meeting of the shareholders of such class, such resolution shall have been passed at a separate meeting of the shareholders of such classes. <sup>1</sup> Individual fund financial statements are presented in the base currency of each fund. For the purpose of calculating the consolidated Vanguard Investment Series plc US dollar total, the EUR-based funds, the JPY-based fund and the GBP-based funds have been translated into US dollars at following exchange rates:

|                     | Daily exchangerate as at31 December 2023 | Daily exchangerate as at31 December 2022 | Average exchange ratefor the year ended31 December 2023 | Average exchange ratefor the year ended31 December 2022 |

Vanguard Emerging Markets Stock Index Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to track the performance of the MSCI Emerging Markets Index, a market-capitalisation-weighted index of companies in emerging markets.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- For much of the period, concerns about inflation and whether policymakers' efforts to rein it in might spur a global recession were top of mind for many investors.
- Early on, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then began to broaden to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets.
- With the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high, central banks including the Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued to raise interest rates in the first part of the year but through less aggressive hikes than at some policy meetings in 2022.
- Although financial markets slumped in autumn over concerns that interest rates might remain high for an extended period, they rallied sharply towards year-end as falling inflation and softening economic growth raised the odds of the Fed cutting rates in 2024.
- Stocks ended the period up more than 22%, as measured by the FTSE Global All Cap Index. All regions turned in strong results, with the United States turning in an especially robust performance.
- In this environment, the fund's benchmark index returned 9.83% for the 12 months ended 31 December 2023. Seven of the index's 11 industry sectors posted positive returns; information technology, energy and financials produced the strongest results. Real estate, consumer discretionary, health care and communication services posted negative returns.
- Chinese companies, which represented nearly one-third of the index's market value, returned -11.18% for the period. Taiwan, which represented about 15% of the index's market value, returned 30.42%.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard ESG Developed World All Cap Equity Index Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

The Fund seeks to provide long-term growth of capital by seeking to achieve the performance of the FTSE Developed All Cap Choice Index.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- For much of the period, concerns about inflation and whether policymakers' efforts to rein it in might spur a global recession were top of mind for many investors.
- Early on, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then began to broaden to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets.
- With the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high, central banks including the Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued to raise interest rates in the first part of the year but through less aggressive hikes than at some policy meetings in 2022.
- Although financial markets slumped in autumn over concerns that interest rates might remain high for an extended period, they rallied sharply towards year-end as falling inflation and softening economic growth raised the odds of the Fed cutting rates in 2024.
- Stocks ended the period up more than 22%, as measured by the FTSE Global All Cap Index. All regions had strong results. The United States turned in an especially robust performance.
- The fund's benchmark index returned 26.24% for the 12 months. The index is constructed from the FTSE Developed All Cap Index, which is screened for certain environmental, social and corporate governance criteria by the sponsor of the index, which is independent of Vanguard.
- Nine of the index's 11 industry sectors were in positive territory, with technology, consumer discretionary and industrials producing the strongest returns. Energy and consumer staples produced negative returns.
- US stocks, which accounted for more than two-thirds of the index, returned nearly 31%. Japan and the United Kingdom, the index's second- and third-largest components by market, also posted positive returns.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard ESG Emerging Markets All Cap Equity Index Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to track the performance of the FTSE Emerging All Cap Choice Index.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- For much of the period, concerns about inflation and whether policymakers' efforts to rein it in might spur a global recession were top of mind for many investors.
- Early on, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then began to broaden to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets.
- The prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high kept central banks including the Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England raising interest rates in the first part of the year but through less aggressive hikes than in parts of 2022.
- Although financial markets slumped in autumn over concerns that interest rates might remain high for an extended period, they rallied sharply towards year-end as falling inflation and softening economic growth raised the odds of major central banks cutting rates in 2024.
- Global stocks posted double-digit gains for the period. The fund's benchmark index returned 9.14% for the 12 months ended 31 December 2023. The index is constructed from the FTSE Emerging All Cap Index, which is screened for certain environmental, social and corporate governance criteria by the sponsor of the index, which is independent of Vanguard.
- Six industry sectors posted negative results while five sectors posted positive results. Consumer discretionary, basic materials and utilities stocks detracted most from performance while technology and financials contributed most.
- Among markets, Chinese stocks, which represented almost one-third of the index's market value, detracted most from performance. Taiwan, which represented a little over one-fourth of the index's market value, contributed most to performance.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Vanguard European Stock Index Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide long-term growth of capital by tracking the performance of the MSCI Europe Index, which is made up of common stocks of companies located in Europe.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- For much of the period, concerns about inflation and whether policymakers' efforts to rein it in might spur a global recession were top of mind for many investors.
- Early on, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then began to broaden to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets.
- The prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high kept central banks including the Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England raising interest rates in the first part of the year but through less aggressive hikes than in parts of 2022.
- Although financial markets slumped in autumn over concerns that interest rates might remain high for an extended period, they rallied sharply towards year-end as falling inflation and softening economic growth raised the odds of major central banks cutting rates in 2024.
- Global stocks posted double-digit gains for the period.
- In this environment, the fund's benchmark returned 19.89% for the 12 months. All 11 industry sectors produced positive returns. Industrials, financials, information technology and consumer discretionary contributed the most.
- All but one of the 15 markets represented in the index posted positive returns. France, the United Kingdom, Germany and Switzerland contributed the most to returns. Finland, which represented less than 1.5% of the benchmark, was the lone detractor.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard Eurozone Stock Index Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

The Fund seeks to provide long-term growth of capital by tracking the performance of the MSCI EMU Index, a market-capitalisation-weighted index of common stocks designed to capture 85% of the underlying Euro Zone countries' market capitalisation.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- For much of the period, concerns about inflation and whether policymakers' efforts to rein it in might spur a global recession were top of mind for many investors.
- Early on, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then began to broaden to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets.
- The prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high kept central banks including the Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England raising interest rates in the first part of the year but through less aggressive hikes than in parts of 2022.
- Although financial markets slumped in autumn over concerns that interest rates might remain high for an extended period, they rallied sharply towards year-end as falling inflation and softening economic growth raised the odds of major central banks cutting rates in 2024.
- Global stocks posted double-digit gains for the period.
- In this environment, the fund's benchmark returned 18.78%. Ten of the benchmark's 11 industry sectors posted positive returns. Information technology, industrials, financials and consumer discretionary contributed most. The lone detractor was health care.
- All but one of the markets in the index contributed positively to performance. Finland, which makes up less than 3% of the portfolio, was the lone detractor.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in Euros.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the year. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the year and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. A full listing of the portfolio changes for the year is available, upon request, at no extra cost from the Administrator.

Vanguard Global Small-Cap Index Fund

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

The fund seeks to provide long-term growth of capital by tracking the performance of the MSCI World Small Cap Index, a market-capitalisation-weighted index of small-cap companies in developed countries.

Performance Summary (unaudited)

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- For much of the period, concerns about inflation and whether policymakers' efforts to rein it in might spur a global recession were top of mind for many investors.
- Early on, energy prices continued to cool amid an outlook for slower economic growth, but price increases then began to broaden to other categories, notably the services sector, which felt the effects of tight labour markets.
- With the prospect of inflation remaining stubbornly high, central banks including the Federal Reserve, the European Central Bank and the Bank of England continued to raise interest rates in the first part of the year but through less aggressive hikes than in parts of 2022.
- Although financial markets slumped in autumn over concerns that interest rates might remain high for an extended period, they rallied sharply towards year-end as falling inflation and softening economic growth raised the odds of the Fed cutting rates in 2024.
- Stocks ended the 12 months up more than 22%, as measured by the FTSE Global All Cap Index. All regions had strong results. The United States turned in an especially robust performance. The fund's benchmark index returned 15.76% for the 12 months ended 31 December 2023.
- Results were positive in 10 of the benchmark's 11 sectors. Industrial, information technology and consumer discretionary stocks helped performance the most.
- US stocks, which accounted for more than half the index, helped performance the most, followed by Japanese stocks.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <http://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, swing pricing, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.
